Orientation for New Participants (virtual) .... following the opening session for each module

State-wide virtual gatherings are held at the beginning and end of module of the month(s) scheduled for that focus. An orientation for new participants follows the opening gathering for each module. Individuals work at their own pace during the scheduled block for the assigned module (two months for theology modules; one month for non-theology modules).

The modules are designed to take 4 to 6 hours to complete all the activities. Most report taking 45 to 75 minutes to complete each segment of a module, with the theology modules requiring more time for reflection than the more practical non-theology modules.

Those seeking catechist certification will also complete a self-assessment for each module which will be reviewed along with the diocesan coordinator before receiving a certificate of completion.
